New! ND Mobile App Module: "Languages and Cultures"

This Fall, the CSLC launched a new module on the ND Mobile app that aggregates for the first time all language and culture related events in one simple interface. If you have not downloaded the app to your phone yet, don't miss out. You will find our module on the top of the screen for "Faculty/Staff" and it is also available to students (within "Academics") and to Alumni. You will be able to save events to your Google Calendar and learn more about the departments and units on campus who host these interesting events. If you have any questions or want your unit to participate, please contact Eva Hoecker (ehoeckn2@nd.edu).

English for Academic Purposes

The English for Academic Purposes (EAP) Program offers support for the linguistic, academic, and cultural needs of the international community at Notre Dame. We will resume tutoring services in the second week of the spring semester. Information about spring EAP workshops and English Conversation Table meeting dates will be posted to our website by the first week of school.

The following EAP courses will be offered in the spring semester:

CSLC 13002/73002 Academic Writing for International Students

(3 credits, Grading: S/US)

MW 3:30-4:45 p.m. #231 Coleman-Morse Center, Instructor: Mithun Rozario

This course assists international students in improving their academic/research writing skills. Students receive individualized feedback in the process of developing their research papers. Some of the course topics include writing an abstract, introduction, literature review, and method. Students learn how to make grammar choices to improve clarity, flow, correctness, and style. The undergraduate section meets the writing-intensive requirement for undergraduate students.

CSLC 13001/73001 Pronunciation Strategies & Techniques

(2 credits, Grading: S/US)

T 3:30 - 4:45 p.m. Location: #308 Bond Hall, Instructor: E. Julia Kim

This course provides strategies and techniques for improving clarity in spoken English. The course is centered on areas most critical in making speech more comprehensible: word and phrasal stress, intonation, and rhythm. In addition, there will be individual and classwork on specific vowel and consonant sounds focusing on the phonemes which frequently cause communication breakdowns. Each week, students will receive EAP tutoring in a 30-minute individual Zoom session.

For questions about these courses, contact eap@nd.edu.

Globally Engaged Citizens (GEC) Program

The GEC recognizes what you already do to engage with other languages and cultures. The CSLC launched the GEC program in Fall 2021 and currently has 185+ students applying for this recognition. The program is open to every student at Notre Dame, regardless of major, college, or language study background. You can register at any time. Curious? Click below to learn more and to register. If you have any questions about the award, you can contact Eva Hoeckner (ehoeckn2@nd.edu).
